Innovative ‘Quick-Deploy Hospitals and Social Housing Solution’ in response to the Covid-19 hospital bed shortage.

Oaklu today announced the launch of a new range of permanent and temporary hospital solutions available globally, that may also be converted into social housing – supporting post Covid-19 demands.

Whether 80 or 800 room facilities are required, Oaklu’s customized solutions are securely constructed from 12 different, pre-fabricated configurations that can be deployed in 30 to 90 days almost anywhere in the world.

The Reynolds Quick Deploy System is a proprietary logistics management system to ensure high-quality construction in a compressed timeframe. Also, Oaklu has options to leverage global funding sources and private capital entities to provide a global financing solution to local governments.

The result? A superior solution that ensures the highest patient care today, while staying at the forefront of communities’ future demands. “Our teams have done an outstanding job developing a range of superior solutions to meet the immediate global need for hospital beds and Covid-19 treatment facilities. With our passion for construction and humanitarianism we seek to alleviate suffering and save lives.” said Morgan Reynolds, President of Oaklu.

In the coming weeks, Oaklu will start rolling out these quick deploy hospitals in several markets across North America, Europe, Latin America, Middle East, Africa, and around the world. “Today’s announcement further extends the global reach of Oaklu’s brand as we expand into new markets in hopes of making a difference.”

The new range of quick deploy hospitals include all equipment and fit-out for a turn-key solution. The manufacturing of the pre-fabricated units create very little waste during production and promotes sustainable construction practices as well.

Oaklu endeavours to build a better tomorrow.
